Face-To-Face Meeting With Adlai Slated

Demo Leader Will Attend White House Briefing Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight he does not expect to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris Dec. 16.

Stevenson, who is acting as a consultant to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, said: "By that time, Mr. Dulles will have had my views and my work will be over."

Returning to Washington after a weekend here, the two-time Democratic candidate for president said he has "high hopes" that the NATO meeting will "re-store confidence in the Atlantic alliance by clarifying United States foreign policies which now have our partner nations confused and worried."

He told newsmen at La Guardia Field that he will participate in the administration's bi-partisan conference of congressional leaders Tuesday. The White House meeting will consider proposals to strengthen NATO.

If Eisenhower does show up for the briefing, it will mark his first meeting with Stevenson since the Democratic leader was appointed a special State Department consultant on NATO affairs.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he "couldn't say one way or the other" when asked if Eisenhower would sit in with the Democratic and Republican leaders. The briefing will cover international and defense developments.

The State Department announcement said that since the agenda will include discussion of the forthcoming NATO Council meeting in Paris, Stevenson had been invited to be present for the NATO presentation and had accepted.

Stevenson and Eisenhower have not met since they opposed each other in the 1956 presidential election.

Eisenhower's apparently rapid recovery from a mild stroke may permit him to preside over the meeting.

The possibility that Eisenhower may take a hand in the session was heightened today when it was announced the President may sit in, for a time on a Cabinet meeting tomorrow.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the President will return to Washington from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm estate tomorrow and hopes to participate in the Cabinet meeting.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's activities still are being charged on a day-to-day basis, subject to the wishes of his doctors. He said, "I couldn't say one way or the other" when asked whether Eisenhower would sit in with the congressional leaders Tuesday.

Confidence Booster
An Eisenhower appearance at the session—even though he may leave most of the talking to Secretary of State Dulles and others—would be calculated to increase confidence that the President is keeping a hand on efforts to offset Russia's bid for world dominance.

It also would serve to mitigate any resentment Democratic leaders might feel if Vice President Nixon moved into the chairman's seat. Nixon has been a top target for Democratic criticism. The Democratic Digest devoted a lead article last week to criticizing what it called a Nixon presidential buildup.

If Eisenhower attends the two-party meeting Tuesday and a session with Republican leaders Wednesday, the chances will be enhanced that he may go to Paris for the North Atlantic Council meeting starting Dec. 16.

Twin Sisters Drown When Ice Breaks

ANTIOCH, Ill., Dec. 1 (AP)—Eleven-year-old twin sisters drowned in a northern Illinois lake today when they fell through ice covering the surface. Their father also fell through in a rescue attempt but was pulled ashore.

Police said the girls, Mary Jane and Hazel Jean Beaman, were playing on the frozen surface of Grass Lake. A boy who saw the ice give way beneath them ran to their home nearby and summoned their father, Samuel Beaman.

Adlai Doesn't Plan To Attend NATO Session

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight he does not expect to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris Dec. 16.

Israel-Jordan Clash Feared Over Gasoline

Dag Works To Ease New Mideast Crisis

AMMAN, Jordan, Dec. 1 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld began talks today aimed at heading off an open clash between Israel and Jordan—all over 490 gallons of gasoline.

"This thing could get that serious if it is not settled," said a spokesman for Hammarskjöld.

Hammarskjöld sat down with Jordanian leaders to talk over the ticklish border situation within an hour after arriving from Beirut.

He held a long session with 23-year-old King Hussein, two long meetings with Samir Rifai, deputy premier and foreign minister, and a short one with Premier Ibrahim Hashem. Hammarskjöld said more talks will be held tomorrow.

Thus far, the U.N. secretary general apparently has found no inclination by Jordan to give ground.

After four hours and 45 minutes of meetings, a communique was issued saying Hammarskjöld and the Jordanians discussed "problems relating to the strengthening of the position of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization. The agenda was limited to specific problems connected with the UNTSO authority in areas under U.N. responsibility, particularly in the Mt. Scopus demilitarized area. Discussions will be resumed tomorrow morning."

Jordan authorities gave Hammarskjöld a list of 21 alleged Israeli truce violations. The Jordan government steadfastly refuses to permit an Israel convoy carrying 490 gallons of gasoline to pass through Jordan territory. The Jordanians maintain the gasoline falls in the classification of military supplies, which are prohibited from convoys supplying Israeli-held Mt. Scopus.

Moreover, the Jordanians have refused to cooperate with U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary, acting chief of the truce supervision organization. Rifai has accused Leary of being prejudiced toward Israel and has demanded that Hammarskjöld fire him.

Jordan claims Israel is trying to transport gasoline to Mt. Scopus for military purposes. The Israelis maintain the gasoline is needed for an electric generator.

ALGIERS, Dec. 1 (AP)—French army headquarters tonight claimed French forces killed 26 Algerian rebels in a surprise attack on a fortified village in eastern Algeria.

Double Slaying Probed For Link To Gang Killing
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 1 (AP)—The bullet-riddled bodies of two Jersey City longshoremen were found slumped in the rear seat of a sedan parked in a residential neighborhood here today.

Police said the sedan apparently had been parked there after the men had been shot somewhere else.

The men, one of whom had a local police record dating back to 1925, were finally noticed by a curious 5-year-old girl who peered into the back seat of the 1934 sedan.

Police identified the victims as Patrick Martinetti, 45, who used the alias "Paddy the Priest," and Marino Romito, 28.

In New York, Dep. Police Commissioner Walter Arm said police are investigating the slaying to see if it has any bearing on the shooting of gangland figure Albert Anastasia, who was gunned down in a barber's shop in New York in October.

Presidential Disability Called Congress' Problem
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today there is no reason for President Eisenhower to resign. But Knowland added that Congress must face up to the problem of presidential disability.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he thinks Eisenhower is perfectly capable of judging his own ability to continue his duties despite the slight stroke he suffered last Monday.

"The President is the judge of his capabilities," Knowland said. "I am sure he would not continue to carry on the burdens of his office unless he felt fully capable of doing so."

"But it is time for Congress to face up to the need for clarification of the succession problem. I hope the administration will re-

Hurricane Lashes Hawaiian Islands

Air Traffic Disrupted By 85 MPH Winds

HONOLULU, Dec. 1 (AP)—Hurricane gales—the first ever recorded in the Hawaiian area of the Pacific—lashed the islands today, disrupting the usual heavy air traffic and causing some damage.

No ships were reported in the path of the hurricane as it howled toward the major island of Oahu from the south at a steady 10 miles an hour. But the storm halted all air traffic between Honolulu and the mainland and to mid-Pacific islands.

Gusts of 75 m.p.h. delayed at least 15 commercial airliners here and in San Francisco. Pan American was holding five flights to San Francisco and four outbound San Francisco flights. Others were held up at Wake Island. Six flights of other airlines were canceled.

Hurricanes—called typhoons west of the international dateline because of the Asian derivation of the word for such a storm—are named after women, the first letter of the name designating the storm's number during the season—hence Alice for the first, Betty for the second, etc.

This one, called Nina, is the 14th in the Pacific this year.

A Honolulu city electric department worker, Herman J. Palenapa Jr., 33, became the storm's first reported casualty today when he was electrocuted while testing a power line.

Damage up until mid-afternoon apparently was minor. Roofs were blown off some buildings and there were smashed windows.

The Weather Bureau said Nina's center was expected to strike Kauai Island, northernmost in the Hawaiian chain, about 6 a.m. tomorrow with maximum winds of 85 m.p.h.

U. S. Algerian Stand Sought
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—The United States was under pressure from Asian-African and European allies today to take a stand for or against Algerian-French negotiations on freedom for Algeria.

An American source told a reporter the position would be disclosed in a speech by U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge in the U.N. General Assembly's Political Committee, probably this week. He added nothing would be said about it until then.

African and Asian delegations were working on a resolution whereby the Assembly would call on France to negotiate with Algerian Nationalists for settlement of the three-year-old rebellion in Algeria.

Moroccan King Mohammed V and Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba have offered to help in such negotiations to be based on sovereignty for Algeria and safeguards for French interests. But French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the U.N. committee in opening Algeria debate Wednesday that a cease-fire and elections must precede any talks.

Revision Of A-Power Program Advocated
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—Rep. Durham (D-NC) said today the U. S. atomic power program is inadequate and confused. He called on the Atomic Energy Commission for a reappraisal of its aims.

Durham, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, made his views known in a letter to AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss.

Among other things, Durham renewed a proposal of a 10-year demonstration power reactor program to provide long-term assurance to private industry of government aid for private and public atomic power development.

Police Recover Tot Abandoned In Bitter Cold

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 1 (AP)—State highway patrolmen racing against time recovered a 3-month-old Columbus baby abandoned in bitter cold early today at Portsmouth, Ohio, about 90 miles south of here.

They also arrested Nathaniel Sexton, 23, and his brother William, 19, both of Columbus, who face possible auto theft and kidnapping charges.

The baby, Robert Wayne Herlitz, son of Mrs. Wayne H. Herlitz, 16, of Columbus, had been left in her parked car "for a few seconds," Mrs. Herlitz said, while she stopped at a Columbus tavern about 1 a.m. to pick up a girl friend. When she returned the car was gone.

Alerted by the highway patrol network, Patrolman Glenn G. Finley spotted the Herlitz car parked in Glenvale, Ohio, two miles west of Ironton at 3:22 a.m., and took the Sextons into custody at a house across the street. Ironton is 23 miles southeast of Portsmouth.

Information obtained from them was radioed, and within a short time Patrolman R. C. Hannon found the baby in the back seat of an old car parked in Portsmouth.

Hannon rushed the infant to Portsmouth's Mercy Hospital, where a physician said he was suffering from extreme exposure.

Police said the Sextons were further returned to Columbus for further action in their case.

The brothers told police that they threw the child's clothing out of the car on U. S. 23 near Chillicothe and when they reached Portsmouth they decided to leave the infant.

Fire Claims Lives Of Eight Children
SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 1 (AP)—Eight children burned to death today when flames destroyed their home on the outskirts of Sherbrooke.

Their father, Lionel Denault, 32, suffered third-degree burns, cuts and shock and was reported in critical condition in a hospital here.

Fire Finally Checked
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1 (AP)—The U. S. Forest Service said tonight that the San Gabriel Mountains fire that started Nov. 21 is about under control, but that 587 firefighters are still on the job and many of them will remain on duty for several weeks.

Navy Man Wanted In Slaying Of Petty Officer Killed After Firing On Posse
SANFORD, Fla., Dec. 1 (AP)—A 39-year-old chief petty officer wanted for killing one man and wounding two others was shot to death today after he opened fire on a sheriff's posse.

CPO William H. Kelly was felled by a fusillade from officers' guns as he crouched in a ditch in Osceola National Forest, 10 miles from his base at Sanford Naval Air Station.

Moments before he was cut down, Kelly opened fire on the officers with a pistol from a distance of six to eight yards. The gun battle occurred at 2 a.m. Thirty to 40 officers were involved.

Five hours earlier, Kelly, who had been drinking, shot and killed

Sputnik One Rocket Still Up, Reds Say

British, American Scientists Believe Missile Has Fallen

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 1 (AP)—British and American scientists agreed today that the rocket of Sputnik I must have plunged to its death.

However, Russia, the country that launched man's first artificial moon last Oct. 4 says the rocket is still circling the world.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory here, thinks the end of the rocket may have come on its 879th trip around the world last night.

Prof. Alfred Lovell, director of the huge radio telescope at Jodrell Bank, England, says the rocket no longer exists. He says his telescope failed to spot it on seven possible passages today.

But Moscow radio, broadcasting future schedules for the rocket, says it made its 886th trip around the world at 10 a.m., today.

Dr. Whipple, a world authority on comets, bases his belief on the death of the rocket on its rapidly shortening orbit in the last few days. This indicated to him it was being drawn down into denser atmosphere, hastening its end.

Last night the rocket was believed to be below 100 miles at its low point, 30 miles lower than when it was fired into an orbit.

The last confirmed observation of the rocket was made by the radio telescope of Stanford Research Institute, Palo Alto, Cal., at 7:11 p.m., last night.

Fireball Over Alaska
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Army reported today the Sputnik I rocket was believed to have fallen 100 miles southeast of here, but scientists quickly called the flaming object a giant fireball.

The geophysical institute of the University of Alaska described it as a "one in a million chance" that the fireball, or meteor, passed over Alaska at "plus or minus five minutes" of the time the rocket satellite was due over Fairbanks yesterday afternoon.

Church Council Opens Conclave
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—America's biggest convocation of churches opened here tonight to the blare of trumpets and a rolling throb of organ pipes.

The fourth General Assembly of the National Council of Churches set as its rallying theme "Oneness in Christ."

Colorfully robed representatives of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations marched into Kiel Auditorium where they heard a plea for increased mutual faith among all Christians.

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, president of the council, said, "Of all the failures and weaknesses of the Christian Church, there is none today more costly to our cause than lack of faith in one another."

He said mistrust and skepticism is rending the world apart—and damaging Christianity.

Help Reaches Crippled Polar Research Ship

FORT STANLEY, Falkland Islands, Dec. 1 (AP)—The British polar research ship Shackleton, with temporary patches in her torn hull, limped slowly through rough seas tonight on a 500-mile journey to South Georgia in the South Atlantic.

The 1,100-ton vessel, which rammed an iceberg in predawn darkness near the South Orkney Islands yesterday, was being escorted by the British whaling ship Southern Lily. The British Navy ship Protector was scheduled to arrive at her side later.

(Radio reports received in London tonight said the Protector had reached the Shackleton and was taking aboard passengers from the crippled vessel. They said the Protector also had transferred salvage gear and a shipwright to the Shackleton to help with emergency repairs.)

The Shackleton left England Oct. 1 with 28 scientists and supplies bound for British scientific bases in the antarctic. She has a crew of 30. No casualties have been reported.

Bloody Attempt To Kill Sukarno Leaves 10 Dead
JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 1 (AP)—The death toll in last night's bloody attempt to assassinate President Sukarno with hand grenades rose to 10 today.

A government announcement said 137 persons in the crowd around the President last night were still in Jakarta Municipal Central Hospital or treatment of shrapnel wounds. Most of them are small children. Seven persons, including two children, were killed instantly.

Sukarno escaped unhurt as his bodyguards threw him to the ground and covered his body.

Apart from a terse palace announcement and an "all's well" radio broadcast by Sukarno, there has been no official comment on the incident.

(There was heavy censorship in Jakarta but travelers arriving in Singapore from the Indonesian capital said shooting broke out Sunday near the Cabinet building as the Indonesian Cabinet went into emergency session. There also were reports that government buildings and the Jakarta radio station were under guard of army tanks, armored cars and police with machine guns.)

Government officials, expressed grave concern about possible consequences of the bombing. They declined, however, to discuss possible motives or the persons behind the incident. Military authorities have announced the arrest of two persons in connection with the grenade throwing but they have not been identified.

One usually reliable source said an examination of the fragments from the four grenades showed they were Western-made weapons with four-second fuses. They were thrown, apparently on signal from a pistol shot, as Sukarno moved through a crowd outside a public school in Tjikini. The President was taking part in the 15th anniversary of the school.

The national news agency Antara reported Sukarno's son Gunardi, 11, and his daughter, Megawati, 9, were in the official party but escaped injury. A heavy military guard was thrown around the school today. Traffic in the vicinity was normal.

Skeleton Mystery Remains Unsolved
PLAINFIELD, Wis., Dec. 1 (AP)—Officers said today there now is some doubt that the skeleton unearthed on Edward Gein's farm is that of a mysterious stranger who vanished along with an acquaintance five years ago while hunting near the horror farm.

Sheriffs Herb Wanserski of Portage County and Frank Serles of Adams County said a gold tooth found in the skull of the skeleton discovered by Wanserski Friday apparently does not match the dental work of either of the two long-missing men.

Gein, short, gaunt-looking handyman who lived alone on a 160-acre farm six miles southeast of this Waushara County community of 600 persons, has admitted killing and butchering two women and looting the graves of nine others.

North Winds Chill Atlantic Coastline
[By The Associated Press]
Approaching winter blew cold down the Atlantic coastline Sunday, holding midday maximums in the 40s and boding another overnight freeze as far south as Florida, the Gulf coast and Rio Grande valley.

Eight inches of snow blanketed northern Maine, which expected sub-zero temperatures Sunday night along with 50-mile winds. The hard north winds hurled heavy seas onto much of the Atlantic coast. Gusts ranged up to 50 m.p.h. in the Florida Keys.

Freezing or near freezing temperatures were general throughout the South.

Vegetable crops were damaged in the semi-tropical lower Rio Grande valley along the Mexican border.

SOPHIA in the SAHARA

After eight long, grueling weeks on location in the Libyan desert, Italy's Sophia Loren was still able to laugh, play practical jokes and keep her co-stars and crew amused with her Neapolitan exuberance.

For Sophia the "Legend of the Lost" was her first desert picture, and perhaps the toughest she's ever played in. It was eight weeks of breathing sand, digging sand, scratching sand out of hair, eyes and ears. The acting was just as tough. There was one fight scene that took a full week to get on film. Generally, a stunt girl would have been employed to take Sophia's part, but there was no other girl in the cast. Sophia went through with the scene. She even learned how to shoot a gun, and twirl it. "I'm now ready for an American western movie," she said after the lesson.

The company worked out of an oasis town 400 miles south of Tripoli. Water was a great problem. Thousands of gallons had to be flown in. "It didn't bother me," said Sophia. "I like wine with my meals."

The desert enfolds Sophia (Dita) and John Wayne (Joe January) in love scene from the new picture.

Movie crew sweeps desert as Sophia Loren and Rossano Brazzi stand ready for shooting of scene. Reason for the neatness: Cameramen had to photograph a virgin, untrampled desert.

Sophia and crew line up for lunch. Meals were brought to location by truck from Ghadames.

Resting against pile of rocks in ancient Roman ruins of Leptis Magna on fringe of Libyan desert, Sophia takes a siesta and sun bath during lull in shooting of the film.

Drum gets workout from Sophia during tent party given for Sophia, John Wayne and Rossano Brazzi.

After strenuous scene, Sophia gets massage from wardrobe woman. Sophia had difficult time in keeping skin in good condition because of fierce sun and sand.

In village of Ghadames, Sophia gets ride in bike rickshaw with John Wayne doing the work. Ghadames was headquarters for cast and crew during filming.

Hardy County Expects 8,000 Hunters Today

Illegal Kill Reports Sought

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Nearly 8,000 hunters are expected to enter the woods in Hardy County today, the opening day of West Virginia's deer season.

There will be 14 checking stations to facilitate prompt checking of the kill, according to Conservation Officer Bart Townsend.

Checking stations are Moorefield, Keppie's Kas & Karry; Old Fields, Old Fields Grocery; Bass, Yost Service Station; Milam, Irvin Thomas Grocery; Fabius, Crider's Store; Inkerman, Shanholtz Store; Baker, Ely's Store; Lost River, Larry's Grill; Mathias, Raymond Bean's Station; Kinsey's Run, Harry Miller; Whetzel Hollow, Tom Halterman; Branch Mountain, Lester Tusing; Wardensville, See's Service Station and Perry, Ben F. Dietz.

Townsend requests all sportsmen to report illegal kills to the nearest checking station as soon as possible. This year killing bucks with less than three inch horns is illegal. Townsend will be assisted by two game technicians on a roving assignment who will age the deer, check physical condition and get a more accurate estimate of the number and the state of the deer herd in Hardy County. Additional game wardens will be in the county.

Townsend's guess is a kill of 600 for the six day buck season as compared with last year's kill of 3115 in a hunters' choice season.

The conservation officer reported twenty arrests for game violations have been made in Hardy County since October 1 with fines amounting to $850 imposed. Nine of the arrests were for spotlighting, five for improper license, three for killing squirrels before the season, two for hunting on Sunday and one for negligent shooting.

BLOOMINGTON — Plans for the annual covered dish supper to be held at the school Thursday, December 19, 6 p.m. were made at the recent meeting of the Bloomington PTA.

A cash contribution is to be made to the Christmas Clothing Drive for underprivileged children of Garrett County. The project is being continued again this year with a goal set at $1,200, which with discount would purchase $1,500 worth of clothing.

Woman Drives To Moorefield In Wrong Car

A Moorefield, W. Va., woman has added a new version to the stories concerning women drivers.

The woman returned to a downtown parking lot after completing some shopping here Saturday paid the attendant and got into what she thought was her car.

On arrival at her home in Moorefield, she was met by her husband who asked her where she got the car with Maryland license tags. The mortified driver checked the vehicle for the owner's identity and found she had driven off with a car owned by Frank Kaplan, local merchant.

A telephone call informed Kaplan of the mistake, before he discovered his car was missing. A 'swap' was transacted at the parking lot several hours later.

Kaplan said the mistake was easily made since the cars were of the same make, practically the same model and with identical upholstery. He explained that keys are left in the cars to enable attendants to move them if necessary.

Encouraging Start In Missile Probe

Searching inquiry into the lagging U. S. missile program now under way by a Senate committee can accomplish much if it keeps its sights on the goal of bringing into sharp focus where this country is lagging behind the Russians and why.

The committee can answer the nagging question whether the vital need is for more funds or for better organization of efforts. The committee has started encouragingly. It called as its first witness Dr. Vannevar Bush, who headed the country's scientists during World War II, and Dr. Edward Teller, the father of the H-bomb.

In their testimony these two men did not tell the committee or the public much that it had not heard before during the weeks that the Russian Sputniks have been whirling across the skies. The difference is that they said it as disinterested experts whose words should command the attention of everyone in government and out.

When Dr. Bush declares that rivalry among the armed forces has been damaging and sometimes disgraceful, and urges modification of the Armed Forces Unification Act of 1947, he puts real impetus behind a reform that is obviously crying to be made.

As for Dr. Teller's testimony, it is only necessary to quote Senator Saltonstall's comment that "this is the most interesting two hours and a quarter I have spent since I have been in the United States Senate."

If the aim of an inquiry is to be instructive, there is no doubt that the Senators have as teachers some of the men best able to tell them the harsh facts of the nuclear and missile age.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
The Art Of Boasting

Nikita Khrushchev obviously talks too much. His interview with William Randolph Hearst, Jr. and his associates lasted three hours and thirty-five minutes which is a lot of talk for a politician who plans to conquer the world. In it he boasted of his country's accomplishments.

The purpose of his boastfulness is to scare all Americans into accepting a Russian program for peace. It is an ancient stratagem and when I read the interview, I was minded of a memorandum written by Chao Tso, who died in 155 B.C. He was an imperial counsellor of the Han dynasty. His country was besieged by the Huns who first sought to conquer China and then marched westward until they reached Europe. So Chao wrote:

"... In scaling mountains and fording rivers our horses do not excel; nor our horsemen in galloping wildly along precipitous mountain paths, shooting as they go; nor our soldiers in endurance of cold, hunger, and thirst. In all these respects the Huns are our superiors. On level ground we beat them out of the field. Our bows, our spears; are incomparably better than theirs. Our armour, our blades, and the manoeuvres of our troops, are unmatched by anything the Huns can show. When our good archers discharge their arrows, the arrows strike the target all together, against which their cuirasses and wooden bucklers are of no avail. And when it comes to dismounting and hand-to-hand fighting with sword and spear in the supreme struggle, the victory is easily ours. In these respects we excel them. Thus, the Huns may be compared with us in strength as three to five. Besides which, to slaughter their myriads we can bring tens of myriads, and crush them by mere force of numbers. But arms are a curse, and war is a dread thing ..."

So, having boasted of the greater strength of the Huns, he came up with a stratagem for killing the Huns at little cost. He wrote:

"... And as we have among us several thousand barbarians who, in point of food and skill, are closely allied to the Huns, let us clothe them in stout armour and warm raiment, arm them with trusty bows and sharp blades, mount them on good horses, and set them to guard the frontier ... Then, in the event of arduous military operations, let these men go to the front, while we keep back our light war-chariots and horse-archers for work upon level ground ..."

Nikita Khrushchev told Hearst that he will show everything, but thus far that is loose talk. Actually, Soviet Russia operates both military and propaganda devices. The Sputnik, for instance, was more propaganda than military in its results. What knowledge Soviet Russia gained from the two Sputniks, we do not know. It may all turn up in Russian learned journals or it may be secret. At any rate, Khrushchev boasted loudly and such boasting does not frighten. It may even have the contrary effect.

It used to be, in feudal times, that a besieger stood before a besieged city and delivered himself of a fierce oration on his prowess, his superiority, his exalted position. The hope was that the besieged would be scared out of their wits and would capitulate without a battle.

Khrushchev will not get off that easy with us. He forgets that twice before we were discounted by the Germans and twice before we somehow came to strength and defeated those who would both wipe us off the earth and bury us. Khrushchev shouts too loudly, like one in trouble; he makes even the truth unbelievable. He would bully us with words when what we need to fear most is our own inadequacy. His interview with Hearst forces one to question his own strength and legitimacy and recalls Hotspur's great speech in Shakespeare's "Henry IV":

"... Disgrace me in my happy victories, Sought to entrap me by intelligence: Rated my uncle from the council-board; In rage dismissed my father from the court; Broke oath on oath, committed wrong on wrong; And, in conclusion, drove us to seek out This head of safety; and withal to pry Into his title, for which now we find Too indirect for long continuance."

Neither Lenin nor Stalin talked as much as Khrushchev does and neither boasted of accomplishments still unaccomplished.

Tough Question: Should The President Resign?

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
"When I believe I am not capable, I will not be there, and that is all there is to it."

The speaker, of course, was President Eisenhower, and the occasion was a press conference a year and a half ago. The statement is worth recalling in the light of the President's latest misfortune. As far as any serious and permanent impairment of the President's health is concerned, meaning is clear.

In that case, the President will take advantage of the constitutional provision permitting him to resign and hand over his "powers and duties" to the Vice President. For the President is of course aware that the chief of state these days cannot be a permanent semi-invalid.

But if—as everyone hopes, and as now seems far more likely—the President's stroke is mild and he recovers fairly rapidly, there will still remain a question in some minds, and quite possibly in the President's own, about what he ought to do. It is always painful to speak frankly about the physical misfortunes of a well-loved human being. But in some circumstances it is better to be blunt.

The President is approaching seventy. He has suffered three diseases in the last two and a half years, all extremely serious, all capable of recurring. Can a man in such circumstances be expected in fairness to bring to the terribly burdensome task of the Presidency all the needed vigor and vitality, through the three long hard years which stretch ahead?

It may be a tactless question. But it is nevertheless a question which ought to be publicly asked and publicly debated. It is most certainly not a question which can be easily or quickly answered.

No President in American history has ever resigned his office. For President Eisenhower to do so would instantly create political and constitutional problems so numerous that there is no space to list them here. It would also mean, of course, at least the partial loss of the President's domestic unifying influence and world prestige, which are still major national assets.

Yet there are also reasons why the question should at least be asked. Some of the reasons become apparent if you examine the difference between the situation today and the situation which existed after the President's heart attack in September 1955.

To start at the lowest, or political, level, there is one obvious difference between the situation then and now. In 1955, Dwight D. Eisenhower represented the Republican Party's major hope of holding the White House in 1956. Now Vice President Nixon represents the Republican Party's major hope of holding the White House in 1960. Nixon's chances will obviously be enormously enhanced if he is then the incumbent President, with a solid record of achievement behind him.

This political element in the equation is, as a practical matter, an important one. But there are also far more important differences between 1955 and 1957. In the weeks that followed the President's heart attack, the government was run by an informal regency. But the regency's task was not an impossibly difficult one. For in those days, the smiles

Ike's Slight Stroke Is Similar To First Few Suffered By FDR

By Drew Pearson

Ike's Frankness On Health

WASHINGTON—Regardless of whether President Eisenhower had a "stroke," as private specialists described it, or an "occlusion" of a small branch of the cerebral vessel" as the White House doctors described it, the medical consensus is that he suffered in a minor way what Woodrow Wilson suffered in a major way. Ike's stroke or "strokelet" is also similar to the small strokes suffered by the late Franklin Roosevelt.

Woodrow Wilson, while campaigning for the League of Nations, suffered a "massive stroke," was confined to bed and a wheel chair during the remainder of his term, while government business, including vital decisions pertaining to the peace of the world, were left undecided.

Private doctors specializing in vascular disease and studying the reports of the White House agree that the President's ailment does not have to be serious. But at his age, they also agree that chances of a recurrent stroke are almost 100 to 1.

Three developments can take place in the body of a man suffering from vascular disease, which has been Eisenhower's problem for some time:

1. He can suffer an embolism, or clot, in part of the body, which becomes lodged someplace else. This rarely lodges in the brain and was not the case with the President.

2. He can suffer a hemorrhage, which again is rare in the brain except in the case of people with high blood pressure. Eisenhower at one time suffered from high blood pressure, but in recent years his doctors say he has overcome this.

3. There can be a blood clot in a blood vessel in the brain. This is common and is what afflicted the President last week. The blood clot usually forms where the inner surface of a vessel is rough. People sometimes awaken in the morning with such a clot or are stricken during the day. It usually comes on slowly and is not dramatic. This is the case with the President.

FDR's Strokes

With careful treatment and rest, the spasms disappear, with recovery depending upon the size of the clot. Actually the clot never disappears. The blood vessel is closed off by nature, and nature than compensates for the loss of this vessel by opening other channels.

The significant factor in the President's case is his age. If he were younger, the clot would mean very little. But at the age of 67 all specialists agree that the chance of a recurrence is high. They point out that the late Franklin Roosevelt suffered several strokes during the latter part of his term in the White House, one in the summer of 1944 when he took a cruise to Alaska to recover from it; another when he was returning from Yalta.

On each occasion Roosevelt's speech was slightly impaired, and the public noticed he had some difficulty with his enunciation during his address to the nation following his return from Yalta. White House aides at that time explained this resulted from a new set of false teeth.

Actually the President had suffered a slight stroke, and it was only four months later that a "massive" stroke brought about his death at Warm Springs on April 12, 1945.

Note: Medical experts say that the most worrisome factor in President Eisenhower's slight stroke is that it occurred despite the fact that he was receiving the best attention medical science could give him in the year 1957, and that he was on dicumarol, an anti-coagulant designed to prevent blood-clotting which causes strokes.

1. In May, 1955, Eisenhower told Sen. George Bender of Ohio that if he ran again he would be the only president to reach the age of 70 in the White House. And he warned about the erosion on the health of any president.

2. In September, 1955, as Republican state leaders gathered in Denver, the President told them that they could not pin their future on one man.

3. When he came back from his heart attack, Eisenhower told newsmen at Key West, Fla., that it would be wrong for him to run again unless he had a good chance of serving out a second term, because "it is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time when it's unexpected."

4. At his first White House press conference after the heart attack he warned: "It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored to the excellent state in which the doctors believed it to be in mid-September ... my future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

Our other satellites will be launched from Cape Canaveral and will orbit around the equator. They are American news photographers, assigned to sneak pictures of our missile tests. Vienna Today

By Bob Considine

VIENNA, Dec. 1—(INS) —

There's a story going the rounds here and probably elsewhere that the Americans have a new rocket called "the civil servant." It won't work and you can't fire it.

As the end product of a long line of government employees, I have lodged a formal protest with Chancellor Raab.

In a little informal talk with Marshal Malinovsky, after the Harst interview with the new Soviet defense minister, one of us said to him: "Looks like the only thing that can get the Russians and the Americans together again as allies would be the approach toward earth of an armed flying saucer from outer space." The Marshal considered this in his ponderous way and then said very seriously:

"I would first want to see his papers before firing."

Mally apparently thinks there might be some Party members out there in space.

If the Vienna Telephone Company isn't the last word in thoughtful service it will until something truly adequate comes along.

In addition to being able to dial numbers that tell him the time of day and predict the weather for the next few days, the Viennese phone user can get the latest skiing information, the dope on what plays and movies are in town and times of performances, bedtime stories to lull a child to sleep, the top popular tune of the week, a practice dictation period for students of shorthand, and an authentic "A" for persons musically inclined.

But our favorite here is to dial the number 1563. The voice that answers is the recorded bleep bleep bleep of the Sputnik.

Vienna has become an important hi-fi recording center. The big American recording companies have recently discovered its charms, the charms being, let us say, more than somewhat based on the fact that you can get a fine musician here to work three hours for $9, about one-twentieth of the cost of one of Mr. Petrillo's boys in New York or Hollywood.

One of the official American observers at the Czech trial of Foreign Correspondent Bill Oatis told us the other day, at his post on the other side of the Iron Curtain, that as he left the country after Oatis was convicted, a border guard whispered in broken English:

"Come back with German tanks."

"German tanks?" the American said with surprise.

"Yah," said the Czech, "those fine German tanks of the United States Army."

English is a beautiful language, too beautiful to have missed out on words as touching as sympathy and auf wiedersehn.

One of the more haunting memories of our trip will be that of the tomb of Lenin and Stalin. We stood in Moscow's frigid, snow-swept Red Square an hour before our part of the silent and endless line reached the door. Two stone faced young soldiers stood like statues on either side of it, their rifles at parade rest. The visitor turns left, goes down a flight of black marble steps, turns right again and enters the eerie room where the Red leaders lie. They are in identical, large hermetically sealed glass caskets, their faces and tunics rather brightly lighted. Each head has pressed a neat indent in the black silk pillows. Lenin wears an odd black jacket, with large breast pockets. Stalin is in uniform with six rows of ribbons and two Orders of Lenin. Four armed guards face them, still as death. The crowd files past, like mute sheep, and soon you are bent against the Arctic blasts of Red Square once more.

Personality Characteristics And Alcoholism

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The use of alcohol is not the only cause of alcoholism. There are many more facets to the problem, and until these are uncovered, we never will know why a small percentage drink too much and too long.

Personality, religion, social structure, and family background play a role in the development of such traits as alcoholism, drug addiction, overeating, gambling, and compulsive work habits. Those who grow up in and accept a religion that does not sanction drinking seldom become alcoholics. That has led to the recommendation of religion as a solution to the problem.

Wine, beer, and distilled spirits are anesthetics and depressants. They reduce the speed and accuracy of perception; slow down reaction time; and diminish tensions, anxieties, and inhibitions.

Selden B. Bacon, professor of sociology at Yale, says these reactions have a different impact upon different personalities and every alcoholic has a different reason for drinking.

The most susceptible to alcoholism are shy, repressed individuals who harbor feelings of guilt. They may resort to alcohol in the late teens or early 20s or may go for years without drinking until their responsibilities mount as a result of marriage and parenthood or occupational or professional progress. They are unable to handle situations calling for a more important role in the community without developing anxieties, and rely upon alcohol to see them through.

The values set by any society are important to its members. Those who follow its pattern and emerge with excessive feelings of anxiety, tension, guilt, or inadequacy, behave differently from the group who are happy and content. Men and women who resort to alcoholism to help them over the bumps soon establish a pattern of behavior that follows a well known course.

RHEUMATIC NODULES

S. W. writes: What causes lumps to form on the feet and head of a child with rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Rheumatic fever usually affects the joints, heart, or brain. Now and then the skin is involved (erythema nodosum) or the tissues just below the skin (subcutaneous rheumatic nodules). The latter are insensitive to pain and occur over the bony prominences of the various joints and tendons of the extremities or on the spine or back of the head.

HAIR PATTERN

H. F. writes: What causes cowlicks on the back of the head and how can they be stopped?

REPLY

Cutting the hair short or shaving the skull will have a temporary effect. In this condition a tuft of hair is turned up or to the side as though licked by a cow. Eliminating the cow won't do any good even though the tuft of hair that is turned up looks as though old Bessie had been doing her lickin' best.

LUNG CANCER

S. M. writes: Can you have cancer of the lung without symptoms?

REPLY

Yes, but in time cough develop and blood appears in the sputum. Pain ensues when the lesion expands and begins to press upon or grow into nearby tissues.

SIZE OF TUMOR

Mrs. J. writes: Do fibroid tumors decrease in size after the menopause?

REPLY

Yes, and this is why some gynecologists postpone surgery, especially if symptoms are not marked and the woman is near the change. If the tumors shrink sufficiently, operation may not be needed.

MOTTLED PATTERN

K. W. writes: What is a mosaic wart?

REPLY

A variant of the plantar wart on the bottom of the foot. When the lesion is trimmed, the cut surface reveals a mosaic pattern due to the arrangement of its cells.

TOMORROW: Fletcherizing your food.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

"I did! I did!" his friend assured him hastily. "But your wife said you were at Coney Island."

Major Leagues To Draft Minor Players Today

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Dec. 1 (INS) — Realigning and the chain revision reaction created by the westward movement by the Giants and Dodgers were the main items of discussion today when baseball's annual winter meetings got under way at Colorado Springs.

The convention was officially to start production tomorrow at 2 p. m. (MST) when the major leagues make their yearly dip into the minor's draft grab-bag. At the PCL meeting today three franchises that are going—Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Francisco, — appeared to have three replacements ready to take over for them. Spokane, Wash., made a pitch for the L. A. franchise, Salt Lake City sought the Hollywood team and San Francisco appeared headed for Phoenix, Ariz.

College Grid Bowl Lineup Is Complete

Navy, Rice, Vols, Ole Miss, Texas Teams Fill Slots

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

The Associated Press
A bowl-hardened cast today started prepping for the profit and prestige of the college football post season game circuit.

Navy, Rice, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Texas A&M filled the last empty slots in the major bowl lineup Saturday to wind up the last busy football weekend of 1957.

The major bowl pairings: Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—Ohio State (8-1) vs. Oregon (7-3). Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.—Oklahoma (9-1) vs. Duke (6-2-1). Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Rice (7-3) vs. Navy 8-1-1. Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Mississippi (8-1-1) vs. Texas (6-3-1). Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Tennessee (7-3) vs. Texas A&M (8-2).

The Gator Bowl will be played Dec. 28. The other games will be on New Year's Day.

Tennessee Repeats
All are familiar bowl names. But only Tennessee is a repeater. The Vols lost 13-7 to Baylor in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day. Six of the 10 schools were ranked among the top ten in last week's Associated Press Poll. But there's not an undefeated team in the lot. Auburn (10-0), Southeastern Conference champion and No. 1 in the poll, was banned from post-season play by the NCAA.

Arizona State at Tempe (10-0), the country's other undefeated, untied team, missed a bowl invitation because school rules do not allow it to play post-season games.

Georgia Tech Missing
For the first time since 1954, Georgia Tech is not fielding a bowl team. The Wrecks, who played in six consecutive post-season games, finished a 4-4-2 season and were not among the chosen. Each team has played at least two bowl games. Tennessee is looking for its fourth victory in 10 bowl games. Most among the current entries. Tennessee won its first Gator invitation by whipping Vanderbilt Saturday 20-6.

Records are figured on major bowl participation.

Rice Seeks 5th Win

Rice will be after its fifth bowl victory without defeat against Navy (14-1-1). Rice earned the host rights to the Cotton Bowl by defeating Baylor 20-0 and winning the Southwest Conference title. Navy, looking for funds to support its athletic program and to help build a new stadium, accepted the Dallas invitation after stopping Army 14-0. The victory also landed the Middles the eastern championship in the form of the Lambert Trophy.

Mississippi was tied 7-7 by Mississippi State and lost its share of the Southeastern Conference title. Because of Auburn's inability to accept the host bid, Ole Miss will oppose Texas. Texas finished second in the southeast and also whipped A&M 9-6 earlier this season to account for its New Orleans trip.

The Texas Aggies (12-2 at bowls), once thought a sure item in the Cotton Bowl, play in their first Gator contest, the third southwest bowl.

The Orange and Rose Bowl opponents had been selected before Saturday.

High Ranking College Quints Open Tonight

Kansas, Kentucky Duke To See Action

By DON WEISS

The Associated Press

College basketball, that December to March merry-go-round, makes its big time debut for another season tonight with all of the things—a French touch.

Many of the major powers are getting right down to business and so is Gonzaga University in showing off Jean Claude (Feet) LeFebvre, a 7-foot-3 1/4, 280-pound import from the French farmlands near Paris.

Although LeFebvre, who wears size 19 shoes and still finds them tight, was introduced to basketball only two years ago, Gonzaga coach Hank Anderson says he's coming along well.

Just how well, some 5,000 fans and interested critics will be able to tell when Gonzaga plays the College of Idaho tonight.

Meanwhile, America's homebred big man, Wilt Chamberlain, leads the Kansas Jayhawks against the ways-tough Oklahoma State in one of the major features. Kansas ranked second in the nation a year ago in Chamberlain's sophomore season, behind North Carolina's unbeaten national collegiate champs, who open Saturday against Clemson.

Kentucky, third-ranking team nationally last season plays Duke, fourth-ranked Southern Methodist plays Minnesota, Louisville (No. 6) meets Evansville, eighth-ranked Vanderbilt faces Sewanee, and Oklahoma City goes against Houston in other games involving the elite of 1956-57.

Pairings also include Arkansas at Oklahoma, Furman at Tennessee, Georgia vs. South Carolina at Charlotte, Marquette at Illinois, Miami (Ohio) at Purdue, Virginia at William & Mary, Columbia at CCNY, Davidson at Wake Forest, and in a doubleheader at Philadelphia, Delaware vs. Temple and Millersville at LaSalle.

Christy Outstanding Player; Alderton Is Placed On 2nd Team

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 1 (INS) —

Six teams, led by Duke's Orange Bowl club with three representatives, placed men on the fifth annual Atlantic Coast Conference all-star football team announced tonight by the Associated Press regional board.

Champion North Carolina State, with its first representation on the top eleven, North Carolina and Maryland, each gained two berths. The others went to Virginia and Clemson. North Carolina State's halfback Dick Christy was named outstanding player in the conference.

Breedlove Makes Grade

For the first time, sophomores crunched the select circle, two rookies — Clemson quarterback Harvey White and Maryland guard Rod Breedlove—making the grade.

The only repeater on the squad selected by a board of conference area sportswriters and a sportscaster in consultation with coaches, was Jim Bakhtiar, Virginia's indefatigable Iranian fullback.

The line is dominated by Duke, Maryland, and North Carolina, each placing three men on this array.

Ends—Buddy Payne, North Carolina and Ed Cooke, Maryland; tackles—Tom Topping, Duke, and Phil Blazer, North Carolina; guards—Roy Ford, Duke, and Rod Breedlove, Maryland; center—Jim Oddo, North Carolina State.

Here's the backfield: Dick Christy, North Carolina State; Way Carlton, Duke; Jim Bakhtiar, Virginia; Harvey White, Clemson.

Three men, Christy, Carlton and Topping, were unanimous first team picks.

Ohio State Voted Best In INS Poll

Bucks Won Seven Big Ten Contests; Auburn Runner-Up

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) —

The 1957 college football season is over and Ohio State, only the second team in the 61-year history of the Big Ten to win seven conference games, succeeds Oklahoma as national champion.

The Buckeyes nosed out the last major unbeaten team in the nation, Auburn, for the national grid title today in a final poll of International News Service's panel of coaches and sports writers.

The Rose Bowl-bound Bucks ended their regular season a week ago but piled up enough votes again this week to nip Auburn by a single point. OSU received every first-place ballot but one, that going to Auburn.

Michigan State finished third just four votes behind the Tigers, and Oklahoma, the defending champion and Duke's Orange Bowl rival New Year's Day, finished fourth in the final tabulation.

The rest of the order: (5) Iowa, (6) Mississippi, (7) Navy, (8) Rice, (9) Texas A. & M. and (10) Notre Dame. Army, among the "top ten" leaders since the start of the season, dropped out in the final count for its 14-0 loss to Navy. Notre Dame took up the slack with a 40-12 pounding of Southern California Saturday.

Ohio State, which Woody Hayes calls "the best team I've ever coached," finished up with an 8-1 season's record, the Big Ten crown and an invitation to play Oregon in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Only loss was to Texas Christian on opening day. After that the Bucks mowed down eight straight opponents, beginning with Washington and ending with Michigan. TCU wound up 5-4-1.

Auburn nearly recaptured first place and the national title with an impressive 40-0 rout of Alabama Saturday, giving the country's lone major unbeaten and untied team a string of 14 straight victories and ten for the season.

Frisco Remains In Race, Defeats New York, 27-17

Loss Ruins Champs' Hopes Of Repeating

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (INS) —

The rampaging San Francisco 49ers remained in the tight scramble for the Western Conference title in the National Football League today, slapping down New York 27-17 and all but ruining the Giants' hopes for another world championship.

Y. A. Tittle, the 49ers' field general, engineered the upset as the fumbling Giants never could get their high-powered offense into gear before a crowd of 54,121—largest of the season at Yankee Stadium.

Fumbles Prove Costly

Five fumbles in the first half, three by quarterback Charley Connerly and two by Frank Gifford, kept the Giants in hot water and made things easier for Tittle and his scrappy westerners.

The Giant defeat, plus Cleveland's victory over the Chicago Cardinals, left New York in a difficult position with only two games to play. Cleveland now has eight victories against one defeat and a tie, while the Giants are 7-3 in the eastern conference battle.

San Francisco, on the other hand, stayed in the western contention, tied with the Detroit Lions for second place, one game behind the Baltimore Colts who held on to first place by whipping the Los Angeles Rams.

Soltau Kicks Two Goals

Gene Babb, Joe Perry and Billy Wilson scored the 49er touchdowns and Gordy Soltau kicked field goals of 13 and 37 yards and had three conversions during the wild and at times rough afternoon.

Colts Whip Rams, 31-14, Before Record Crowd Of 52,060

Lenny Moore Scores Three Touchdowns

Units Fires Three TD Passes; Colts Retain 1st Place

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Long-legged Lenny Moore got away for three touchdowns today to carry the Baltimore Colts to a 31-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams and keep them in first place in the Western Conference of the National Football League before 52,060—biggest crowd at a pro football game in the city's history.

The Colts have a one-game conference lead with two more to play on the West Coast.

Three of the Colt touchdowns came on the end of passes by quarterback John Unitas, giving him 22 scoring tosses for the season. Both of the Ram touchdowns were on passes from quarterback Norman Van Brocklin.

The Rams tied the score at 14-14 early in the third quarter and it set the Colts wild. Steve Myrha kicked them back into the lead with a 36-yard field goal on his second try, provided because the Rams had 12 players on the field when they blocked his first.

Cop Fourth Straight
The Colts ripped out two more touchdowns in the last quarter to make sure of their fourth straight victory and seventh in 10 games.

The last touchdown was a great effort by Moore. He caught a 16-yard pass from Unitas, was immediately grabbed by Don Brugh of the Rams, but wriggled away and ran 34 more yards over the goal.

The Negro halfback, prize rookie of the league last season, started off by running 23 yards for a touchdown six minutes after the opening kickoff. Before the period was over, he caught a three yard pass over the goal from Unitas at the end of a 66-yard march.

A fumble by L. G. Dupre on the Colt 32 was recovered by Larry Morris for the Rams and set up their first touchdown in the second quarter. On the third play Van Brocklin threw 29 yards to Leon Clarke for a touchdown.

The Ram quarterback really got hot at the start of the second half and Los Angeles moved 52 yards on his passing for the tying touchdown. It was scored with a flourish, Van Brocklin throwing 13 yards to Elroy Hirsch on the Colt 10 and the Ram end latering to halfback Tom Wilson for the score.

Baltimore's first touchdown in the last quarter was the result of a fumble by fullback Tank Younger of the Rams. He dropped the ball on his own 12 after Los Angeles had stopped the Colts on the 7 and Milt Davis recovered at end of the third period.

Completes 18 Passes
Unitas passed 10 yards to end Ray Berry in the end zone on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Unitas connected on 18 of his 30 passes for 271 yards. Van Brocklin made good on 10 of 24 for 143.

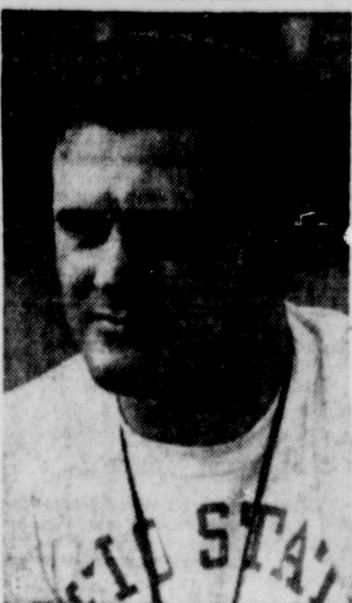

Los Angeles scoring — Touchdowns: Clarke (29, pass from Van Brocklin), Wilson (23, run-lateral, pass from Hirsch and Van Brocklin). Conversions: Cotren 2.

Baltimore scoring—Touchdowns: Moore 3 (23, run; 3, pass from Unitas); 50, pass-run from Unitas); Berry (10, pass from Unitas); Field goal: Myrha (36). Conversions: Myrha 4.

Escobar Gets Nod
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1 (INS)—Alfredo Escobar, rising young featherweight, today looked forward to another bout—possibly on Dec. 14—with the only man who has beaten him, Vince Delgado.

Escobar, 22, who has lost only to Delgado in 17 bouts, polished off Larry Vasquez, of San Francisco, with a fifth-round TKO in Hollywood Legion Stadium last night.

Escobar, generally a fast cutie in the ring, opened up with a furious assault after being floored for a count of five in the second round.

Redskins Top Bears, 14-3

Chicago Eliminated From Western Race

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Washington Redskins scored two first quarter touchdowns behind the passing of Eddie Le Baron and then tossed up a rock-like defense today to defeat the Chicago Bears, 14-3, in a National Football League game.

The loss eliminated Chicago's slim hope for a possible first place tie in the Western Division. Washington's defense was so good that the closest the Bears could get to the Redskins goal was the 42-yard line late in the second quarter. George Blanda followed with a 49-yard field goal for Chicago's only score.

It was the first time since the opening game of the 1955 season that the Bears failed to score a touchdown in a league game. The only formidable gains made by the Bears were runs of 19, 13 and 16 yards by halfback Bobby Watkins who was used sparingly.

Washington scored the first time it got the ball on a 72-yard drive in 9 plays capped by Ed Sutton's four-yard run.

Shortly before the first quarter ended, the Redskins put on a 53-yard drive which ended when Le Baron found rookie halfback Jim Podoley all alone in the end zone on the end of a 10-yard pass. Sam Baker, whose booming punts kept the Bears in a hole all afternoon, booted both extra points.

The victory was Washington's first over the Bears since 1945 and their first in Chicago since 1937. The crowd of 39,148 was the first Bears have had below the capacity of 47,000 this season.

Washington scoring — Touchdowns: Sutton (4, run); Podoley (10-yard pass from LeBaron). Conversions: Baker 2.

Chicago scoring — Field goal: Blanda (49).

Ohiolos Practically Bag Eastern Crown

CLEVELAND, Dec. 1 (AP)—Quarterback Tommy O'Connell, who went into the game with a bruised shoulder and came out with a wrenched ankle, today pitched the Cleveland Browns to a 31-0 victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

The victory, coupled with San Francisco's 27-17 win over New York, practically wrapped up the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship for Cleveland.

O'Connell, the league's leading passer, threw 65 and 23 yard scoring passes to halfback Ray Renfro and set up Lou Groza's 13th field goal of the season with a 40-yarder to end Darrel Brewster. O'Connell connected on only five of 12 tosses, but they went for 177 yards and Renfro muffed one which could have carried 77 yards to a touchdown had he held the ball.

The former Illinois quarterback was carried from the field with a twisted ankle midway through the third period when Leo Sugar, Cardinal end, broke through and upset him on an attempted pass play.

The vaunted Brown defense, which had been cracked for 61 points in the last two games with Washington and Los Angeles completely ruined the Cardinal attack. The Chicagoans got inside the Browns' 30-yard line only once, Pat Summerall missing a place kick in the first period as the Cardinals reached the Browns' 27. That was Chicago's lone scoring chance.

Cleveland 7 14 3 0—31

Cleveland scoring—Touchdowns: L. Carpenter (10, run), Renfro 2 (65, pass-run from O'Connell; 23, pass from O'Connell), Hanulak (5, run). Field goal: Groza (25 yards). Conversions: Groza 4.

Hott To Succeed Paugh As Jackets' Football Mentor

Jonathan (Johnny) Paugh is stepping down as football coach at Moorefield High School next year and his successor will be George Hott, former Moorefield High and Shepherd College athlete, who has served as assistant at the Hardy county school for the past two summers.

Paugh has coached football at Moorefield for 15 years and his teams won 84 games while losing 43 and played seven ties. His 1945, 1946 and 1951 teams won Potomac Valley Conference titles and his 1950 eleven shared the crown with Romney.

Paugh will continue as basketball and baseball coach at Moorefield.

Hott excelled in football, basketball and baseball at Moorefield. In 1955 he was the leading scorer on Coach Donald Fuoss' Shepherd College eleven that was undefeated and untied and won the WVIAC championship. He was given a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1956. George played minor league baseball and was the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates at the time he was drafted into the army. After leaving the service, he finished his college education at Shepherd and became Paugh's grid assistant.

Eagles Edge Steelers, 7-6

Pittsburgh Scores Pair Of Field Goals

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—A second period touchdown pass from quarterback Sonny Jurgensen to Dick Bielski and Bobby Walston's conversion lifted the Philadelphia Eagles to a 7-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers today in a National Football League game at Connie Mack Stadium.

The Eagles, in winning their fourth game against six defeats, blanked the opposition in touchdowns for the second straight week.

Pittsburgh, which threatened constantly in the second half, dropped its fifth game in nine starts. The Steelers scored early in the first period on a 17 yard field goal by Gary Glick. In the second period, Jurgensen rifled a pass into the end zone for a seven yard touchdown to Bielski.

The Steelers wrapped up the scoring in this usual rugged, hard-fought intrastate rivalry with a 23 yard field goal by Glick in the third quarter.

Philadelphia's victory evened the season's series between the two teams at one win each. The Steelers won an earlier game in Pittsburgh, 6-0.

Pittsburgh scoring—Field goals: Glick 2 (17, 23).

Philadelphia scoring — Touchdown: Bielski (7, pass from Jurgensen). Conversion: Walston.

NFL To Draft 49 Collegians

Selection Meeting Is Scheduled Today

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—Forty-nine of the nation's collegiate football players will be drafted tomorrow by the 12 National Football League clubs at the pro league's preliminary player selection meeting.

Immediately following the draft, which includes the annual "bonus choice," club owners will meet in executive session to take up recommendations by Commissioner Bert Bell. Among those expected to be approved are suggestions by Bell which would end the squabble between owners and players over the Players Assn.

Bell, who has recognized the Players Assn. before a congressional committee, will recommend the clubs meet player demands for exhibition game pay, a minimum salary and an injury protection clause. Barring some unforeseen development the commissioner expects unanimous approval of his recommendations.

Other matters to come before the owners are an informal discussion of a new six year schedule format, consideration of changes in the league constitution and by-laws as a result of a congressional investigation of sports, details of possible playoffs in the event of conference ties, plans for the league's championship game and an exhibition schedule discussion.

Royals Top Lakers

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1 (AP)—Big Clyde Lovellette, held to nine points in the first three quarters, came up with a 13-point outburst in the last six minutes that helped hoist Cincinnati's Royals to a 90-89 victory over Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Assn. campaign.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1.—(INS) longer any talk about wedding—Over the weekend, Alfred Hitchcock put his John Hitchcock He's going to be a busy boy (pardon) on a contract to producing the holidays. First, Gary duce and direct for MGM a mod-show for our GI's in Frankfurt ern spectacle taking in a back-show for our GI's in Frankfurt ground of the Central Intelligence Agency, the distant early warn- ing line between Alaska and Rus- sia and—a trip to the moon!

And, for this fantastic opus my friend Hitchy wants Cary Grant, Audrey Hepburn and Yul Bryn- ner.

Based on an original story by Ernest Lehman, who is also writ- ing the script, the picture is ten- tatively titled "North By North- west," which will be changed for sure. Locales are New York, De- troit and other strategic points in the U.S.A.—and the moon. It starts in the spring.

There won't be another mar- riage in the Crosby family, at least this year. The big romance between Gary Crosby and Gaby Spensard in Germany has sim- mered down to where there is no know, but it gives the impression that a lot of money has been spent due to some outstanding camera work. For instance, a fifteen minute—yes, that's right—it lasts all that time—helicopter tour of Rome includes spec- tacular shots of the Coliseum, forum—and Marisa Allasio— Mario's leading lady."

Spent Thanksgiving this year with my daughter Harriet and my cousin Margaret, both of whom have houses in Palm Springs. The weather during the day was so warm we sat by the pool. Palm Springs is a place of many memories for me, because when I was there thirty years ago there was one general store. Now the place has become a small city. There are many new houses all beautifully modern.

I went to the El Mirador's Wednesday Bavarian beer dinner, an idea Ray Ryan brought back from Munich. He himself, wore a real Bavarian costume.

Dancing and having more fun than anyone were Lillian and Walt Disney, who did a German polka and sang the German songs. Lillian and Walt have the most attractive house and we went there for a cocktail.

Frank Sinatra gets the sun, the moon and the stars for his two week engagement at the Fountainbleau in Miami in March after which he goes into The Sands in Las Vegas.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

That Bando Look

In that quest for charm, you can't overrate just-stepped-out-of-a-bando look. You not only are a feast for the eyes, but your appearance brings you respect from all around. And why not? A lady lovely to look at is lovely to be with!

You can be confident of per- forming the basic grooming rit- uals if all your beauty tools are in order. Nothing frazzles the nerves faster and puts you behind in your grooming schedule like disorder. All your things should be together in one place. If you have your own bathroom, the medicine chest is probably the place where you keep most of your beauty items. Whether it's there, or in a dressing table, or in a special closet, be sure that it's kept clean and sanitary. Wash shelves (if removable), glass eyecups and bottle stoppers and jars in hot soapsuds. Wipe the surfaces of jars, bottles and tubes with a damp sudsy sponge or cloth.

Check that your mouth wash.

dental floss and toothbrushes are together on the same shelf. We say toothbrush in the plural for it is advisable to own a number. That means medium-hard and medium sizes with good-quality bristles. This way, you can be sure of having a perfectly dry brush ready for use. You know that only a dry, stiff brush does the work efficiently.

If you keep a beauty box in a desk drawer at the office, take inventory there, too. Be sure that its contents are clean and order- ly. Check often that you have all the essentials for maintaining that bando look. That way, it's much easier to appear well groomed at all times.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q 1—As South you hold:
♠ 6 ♥ J 9 7 ♦ 4 3 ♣ A Q J 10 9 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
3 clubs Pass 4 hearts Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Five hearts. Since a bid of 3 hearts would have been forcing, it may be presumed that partner's jump is based on a very strong holding. Your hand should produce several tricks and a raise over game is recommended. If partner has diamond and spade con- trols, he can bid six.

Q 2—As South you hold:
♠ 9 4 3 ♥ J 8 5 ♦ K 10 6 2 ♣ A 6 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 spade Double 2
What do you bid?
A—Holding eight points and a bal- anced hand, it behooves you to take some mild action during the auction, and this is a very strong holding. You can expect to be able to do so with safety. Bid one no trump.

Q 3—As South you hold:
♠ A K 10 6 ♥ A J 4 ♦ 5 ♣ A Q J 10 7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 heart Pass 1 no trump Pass 3 clubs Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Even opposite a shaded response, a would insist upon game with this holding and therefore recommend a jump shift of two spades. Bear in mind that a rebid of one spade would not be forcing upon responder.

Q 4—As South you hold:
♠ 8 4 ♥ A K 9 8 5 ♦ Q J 2 ♣ Q J 5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass 3 clubs Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Three hearts. This is preferable to a rebid of three no trump, for al- though you already have sworn a balanced hand and the ability to play no trump, you have not yet shown that you have a rebidable heart suit, and this is the appropriate time to do so.

Q 5—As South you hold:
♠ 6 ♥ K Q 10 9 4 ♦ A Q 6 3 ♣ A K 5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 heart 1 spade 2 clubs 2 spades
3 diamonds Pass 3 clubs Pass 4 clubs Pass 4 diamonds Pass

What do you bid now?
A—This is an ideal spot for the Blackwood convention, and a four no trump bid is recommended. If partner can be found with two aces and a King, a grand slam contract at clubs should be within reach. Inasmuch as partner's bid is the limit, it is reasonable to assume that clubs are solid.

Q 6—North-South have 40 part score, and as South you hold:
♠ A 9 7 4 ♥ A Q 9 6 2 ♦ A Q 8 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 heart Pass 1 no trump Pass 2 diamonds Pass 2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. This is a rare hand on which an opening two club bid can be made on a four card suit. The hand contains 25 points, or game in hand.

What do you bid now?
A—Because a game contract has been reached, we suggest a pass, de- spite the fact that this is not the type of hand with which we normally re- lish a no trump contract. It is reason- able to suppose that partner's prin- cipal values will be found in the club suit. That conclusion is reached on the fol- lowing line of reasoning: Partner has not a representative four card spade suit, else he would have mentioned it at the level of one. Partner surely has no support for hearts, else he would have shown a preference and because he failed to accept diamonds, it is clear that he must have values in clubs. An effort to find a new parking place with a bid of three spades would be highly unsound and extremely dangerous.

Q 7—Partner opens with one spade and you hold:
♠ 8 4 ♥ K 6 2 ♦ A 7 3 ♣ Q 7 5 4 2
What is your response?
A—This balanced hand containing only nine points in high cards is not strong enough for a response in two clubs, and the proper response is one no trump.

Q 8—As dealer you hold:
♠ A K Q 4 ♥ A Q J 10 ♦ A K J 4 ♣ 6
What is your opening bid?
A—Two spades. This is a rare hand on which an opening two club bid can be made on a four card suit. The hand contains 25 points, or game in hand.

Reflections Beneath The Surface

NASSAU, The Bahamas

Aqualungs and I don't get along at all well, at least on first acquaintance. But then according to Bruce Parker, who took me aqualunging yesterday, Aqualungs are not mastered the first time by anybody. The general practice here is to spend an afternoon in a swimming pool getting used to breathing all over again. It's a bit of an effort both inhaling and exhaling and there's a different rhythm, and all that takes some adjusting to. Still, I thought I'd better try since we are getting rapidly to be a nation of fish. To me, it's a remarkable development of our time how after spending some millions of years climbing out of the sea and getting adjusted to living on land so many humans are terribly intent on getting back into the ocean and all but living there.

All this is a postwar development of great significance and vast spread made possible by the aqualung and nowhere is it practiced more assiduously than right here. Parker has trained vast numbers in how to use the Aqualung, an experience which makes him view the tourist with some scepticism.

"They come down here with the funniest ideas," he says. "One guy came down here with a carload of equipment. He'd bought out Abercrombie and Fitch, the whole store including all the books. It was the books that did the damage. He read all the books and found out how the smell of blood drove barracudas mad, and if there was so much as a drop of blood in the water the barracudas would come around and bite their fingers off. So I speared a fish and spread blood all over the ocean and then tried to hand the wounded fish to a visiting barracuda. The barracuda backed away as they usually do here, but then perhaps barracudas act differently in other places."

I mentioned that I'd been raised in Florida where barracuda had a formidable reputation.

"Well, I've heard that too, but then you mustn't expect fish to act the same everywhere any more than you expect humans to. Sometimes I fly people out to the other islands. On some of the reefs where the fish have never seen people you go down among 'em and they just lie on their side and look up at you. They have no fear at all and you can swim right up and rub noses with them. Then you take a fish that lies around some of the keys around Nassau, the ones that have had tourists and people about for hundreds of years. You take a spear and you can't get near those fish. They've been speared and harpooned and seined for hundreds of years and they pass the information along to the children: stay away from people. I know fish are supposed to have no brains but there is a difference in behavior between the ones who live close by and those in the outer islands where they never see humans."

The water here is as advertised, luminous with color, variations of green and blue in astonishing profusion, and when the sun shines, superbly illuminated and colorful. When you investigate the nether world of fish as I did, you find the flashing green and blue and turquoise and emerald surroundings they live in a tremendous busy mess. While I watched, a group of pirate fish — a fish that looks as if it had been painted by Dufy — swam by with brisk determination as if they were late to a Parent Teacher meeting and were determined to raise hell about the new school board. Five seconds later a swarm of grunts, a yellow fish of great charm and staggering numbers headed due East as if they were old grads going to the Yale-Harvard game. Then a solitary grouper flashed by for a luncheon date with a blonde he knew. They all seemed to be going somewhere and they knew the quickest route where the traffic is lightest. Then a few seconds later the mood in this watery world changed utterly. There were a thousand or so fish just sitting around looking at each other, nobody going anywhere. It was Sunday afternoon in the park.

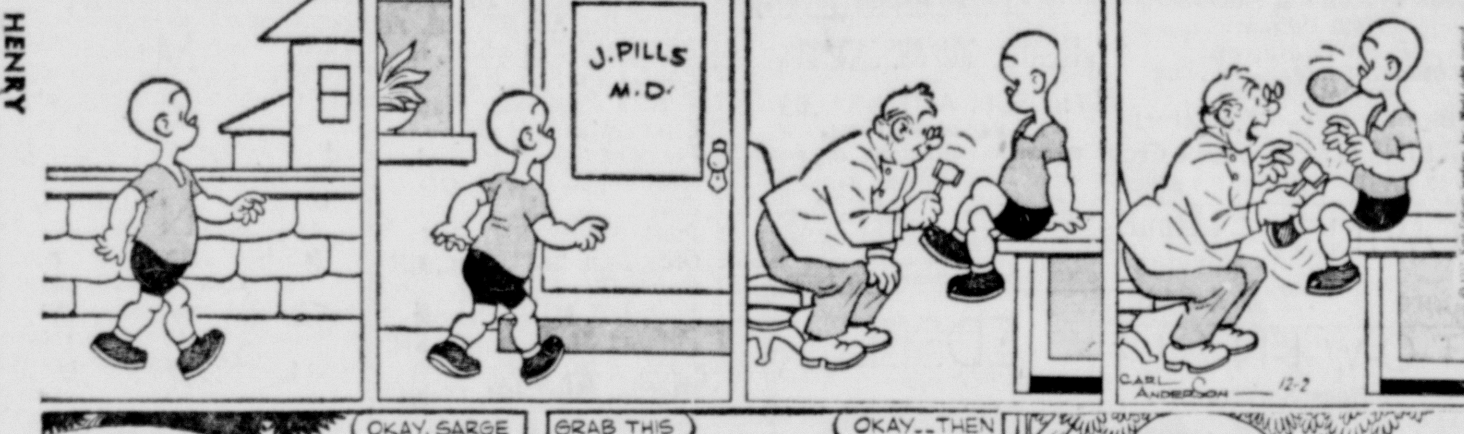

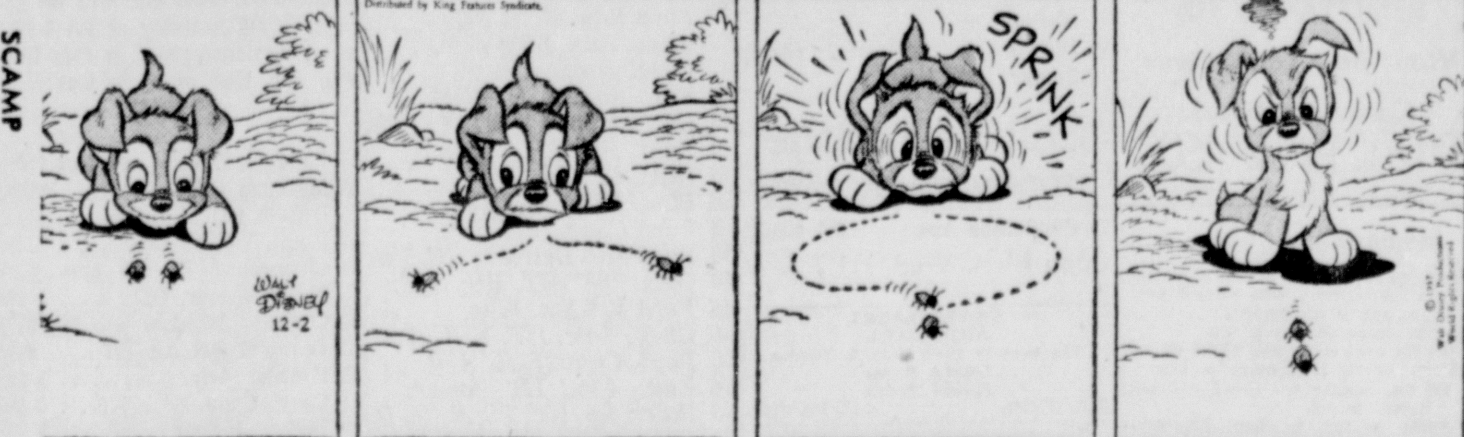

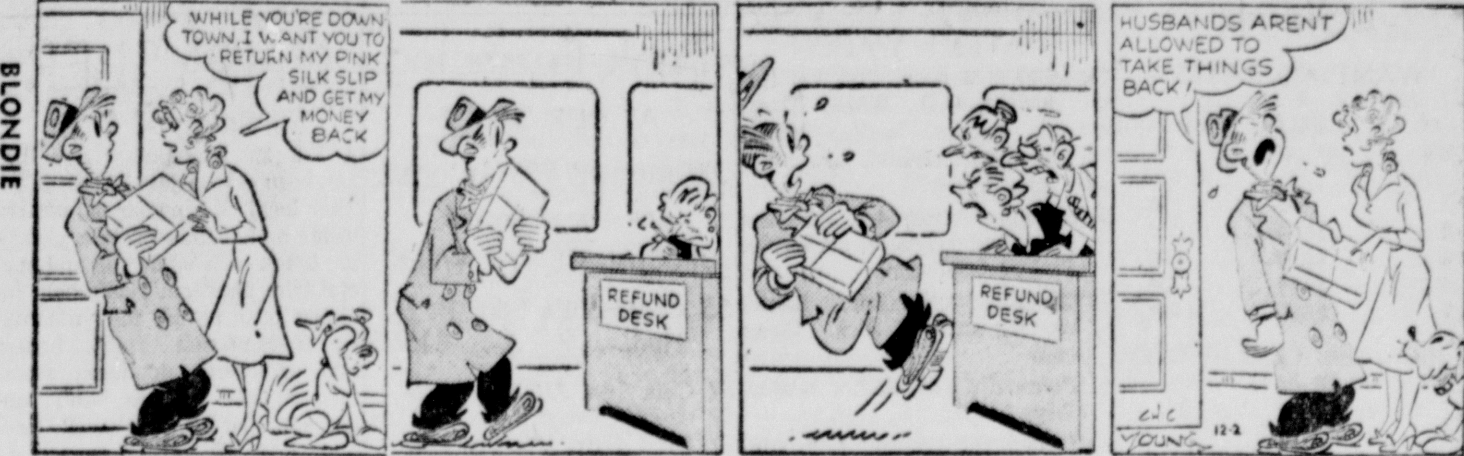

"It's like being a bird," said Bruce Parker. "When you know the aqualung well, you can go up or down by taking a breath. You can do somersaults. You move slow and lazy as if you've had three martinis and you feel utterly at peace. But there's no television down there, so I don't think you could live there."

Well there's no television down there yet, but the way things are moving underwater I wouldn't be at all surprised to find it there in a couple of years, the fish all looking at Ed Sullivan and wondering if maybe life on land is not the thing for them and shedding their gills and acquiring lungs and going through the whole process of evolution all over again just after I thought we had all that behind us.

Today's Sermonette

Violet is suggestive of kingly royalty and also of repentance and searching of heart. It is the same color used during the Lenten season. How fitting that the same degree of attention to spiritual health and welfare is emphasized in Advent as Lent. How necessary that we counteract the commercial and secular din which has barged in upon our observance of the Lord's birth with vigilant spiritual discipline.

The next few weeks will see tremendous pressures and demands upon our time and resources as we prepare for Christmas. It may not be easy, but it is of utmost urgency, that

Flaming Crash Kills 3 Men

Virginian Driver; 2 Unidentified

Three men were burned beyond recognition early yesterday morning after the auto in which they were traveling left the highway and burst into flames on West Virginia State Route 45 in Hampshire County.

Three Die, 12 Hurt In Holiday Auto Crashes

Man, Wife, Child Thrown Under Car

Separate highway auto accidents over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend claimed the lives of three West Virginia men, and at least 12 persons were injured. Dead are Cecil Hile, 48, of Tucker County (W. Va.), John Daniel Stinebaugh, 33, of Great Cacapon, and James R. Ruppenthal, 32, of Berkeley Springs.

Thrown Under Car
A 25-year-old Salem, W. Va. man, his wife and small child were injured yesterday afternoon in a two-car crash on Allegheny Front on U.S. Route 50 west of Keyser.

Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser were William Sadler, his wife, Mary, who was semi-conscious, and the couple's child, who suffered a possible fractured skull. Hospital attaches reported them in "fair" condition last night.

West Virginia State Trooper Robert Noechel said the accident occurred as Sadler was traveling west on the highway and collided head-on with a car driven by Tony Oliver of Arlington, Va., who was on his way deer hunting.

The Oliver car was knocked off the road and into an embankment. The Sadlers were thrown from their auto and under the Oliver car. Police said Sadler had crossed over the highway into the path of Oliver.

Deer Hunters Hurt
In another accident which was investigated by West Virginia State Police, three deer hunters from Wheeling, W. Va., were admitted to Memorial Hospital here after a highway crash on West Virginia State Route 28 near Short Gap. The car was reported to have skidded out of control and overturned.

Admitted to the hospital were Joseph C. Fischer, 34, driver of the car, who suffered possible head and scalp injuries, leg abrasions, and was reported in "fair" condition.

Also admitted were Edward Rannock, 39, who suffered a forehead abrasion and possible chest injuries and Walter Kuznicki, 55, who suffered a scalp laceration. They are listed as "fair."

The accident was reported to have occurred about 6:45 p. m., according to authorities who were investigating a another wreck which was reported to have happened in the Short Gap vicinity about 9:30 p. m. Full details were not learned late last night.

Four persons were hurt in a five-car crash on icy West Virginia State Route 28 just outside Ridgeley town limits early yesterday morning.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital were Miss Janis Twigg, 22, of 860 Sperry Terrace; Mary Poole, 20, of 879 Maryland Avenue and Ories C. Burkhardt, 72, of RFD 1, Ridgeley. John Evans, 19, of Williams Road, was treated at the hospital.

Burkhardt sustained lacerations of the face and knee. X-rays were to be taken of the three persons admitted to the hospital. Ridgeley Police Chief Jack Cornett investigated.

Fatality At Parsons
Mr. Hile, who was traveling on West Virginia State Route 72 near Parsons on Thanksgiving night died on Friday night in Tucker County Hospital, Parsons. He apparently lost control of his car and failed to negotiate a curve at the intersection of the Leadmine and St. George roads about a mile north of Parsons.

He suffered head and internal injuries. His wife, Mrs. Pearl (Lansberry) Hile, a passenger in the car, was injured and was admitted to the Parsons Hospital. She is a teacher in the Tucker County school system.

West Virginia State Police investigated.

Bisbing To Get Mental Exam This Week

'Confessed' Murder Of Mass. Girl

Elmer Bisbing, 33, of this city, "confessed" murderer of Ruth McGuirk, 25, in Plymouth County (Mass.) during the summer of 1946, will be given a mental examination within the next couple of days by a local doctor, the state's attorney's office reported last night.

Action against the local welder will depend on the outcome of the medical check. Bisbing is in Allegany County Jail.

Lt. John N. Sullivan of the Massachusetts State Police Detective Bureau, who came to Cumberland last week to interrogate Bisbing, said Bisbing was not involved in the murder of the woman.

Bisbing walked into City Police Headquarters last Monday night and informed City Police Detective George Furstenberg that he had "choked to death" the Cambridge, Mass., woman.

Later, during questioning by Edwin R. Lilya, criminal investigator for Allegany County, Bisbing continued to involve himself in the murder case, but denied that he had choked the girl. He stated he was with two other men who had killed the woman and told him to keep his "mouth shut."

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told Massachusetts authorities of Bisbing's story.

Lt. Sullivan has been working on the case since it occurred along a lonely road in the New England state. Mr. Lilya reports that Bisbing's story was "vague and disjointed," and that his line of thinking wandered from time to time.

The local man said that they had dumped the McGuirk woman's body into a swamp or cranberry bog near Lawrence, Mass. Lieutenant Sullivan stated the woman's body was found two days after the murder in a cranberry bog more than 100 miles south of Lawrence.

A year after the murder a boy friend of the McGuirk girl was charged and tried for the murder. He was found not guilty by a jury in November of 1947 and has since moved to Florida.

Today's Sermonette

Today's Sermonette is a digest of a sermon preached yesterday by Rev. William J. Yingling, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg. The digests are prepared through cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. John 3:16.

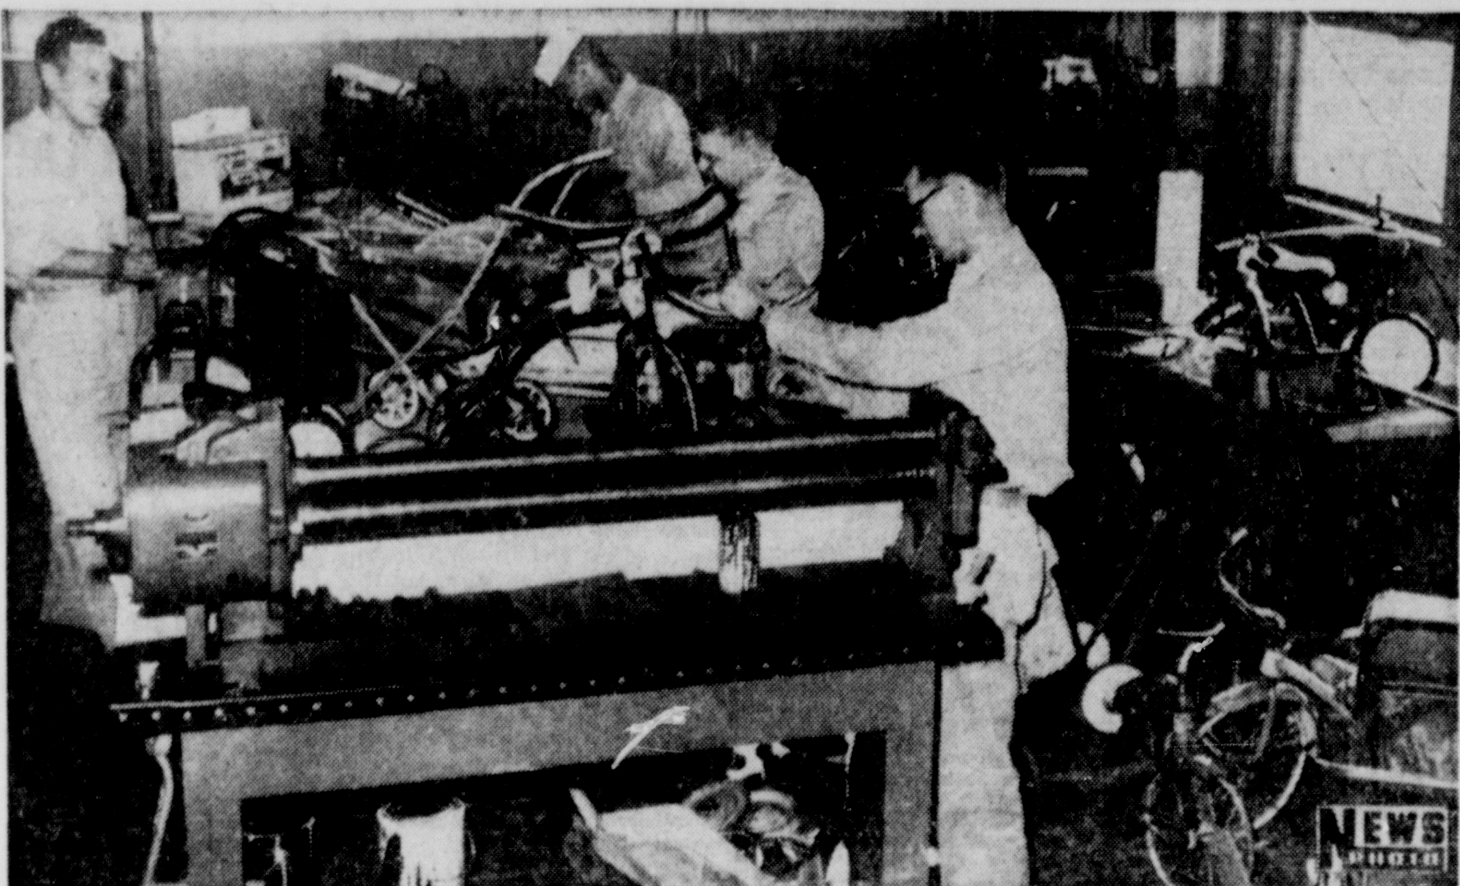

By REV. WM. J. YINGLING

Our lives this year. There must be deep searching of soul before the Christmas season really comes, if its holiest meaning is to be felt. The Advent season, beginning today, is just such a time for soul searching and sober reflection.

Our text, perhaps the most familiar in Scripture, sets the tone for the real meaning of Christmas — God so loved the world that He gave His Son. Here is the real heart of Christmas giving. We give because God first gave us the greatest gift — His only Son — to be our Saviour and Lord. And no one can really say he has observed Christmas until he has come face to face with the question "What have I done about Jesus Christ?"

The weeks between now and Christmas, the Advent season, give us the opportune time to meditate seriously upon our own personal relationship with Jesus Christ, God's Son.

vation Army said applications for the toys will be taken starting today until December 13. They will be distributed in the basement of the Salvation Army from December 17 to 20. 2 Ordered Held In Fire Death

Husband Charged With Murder, Arson

A Somerset County (Pa.) Court judge Saturday morning ordered the husband of a Rockwood woman who died in fire to be held without bond for action of the grand jury on murder and arson charges. The husband's brother was ordered held as an accessory after the fact.

Judge Thomas F. Lansberry, in a ruling on a habeas corpus petition, ordered Melvin Boden, 38, husband of Mrs. Mary (Growall) Boden, and Harry C. Boden, 48, his brother, remanded to Somerset County Jail until the grand jury convenes on February 3.

The two men, who are being held in the death of Mrs. Boden on November 17, had submitted a habeas corpus petition.

A court hearing was held last Tuesday but Judge Lansberry withheld ruling at that time.

In giving his opinion Saturday, Judge Lansberry said there was enough evidence in the case and if the evidence would be believed by a jury it would be sufficient to indict Melvin Boden for murder in the first degree.

At last Tuesday's hearing, a key commonwealth witness, Sgt. Arthur Wood of Greensburg, testified an "accelerant" was used to start the fire which claimed the life of Mrs. Boden. Sgt. Wood is assistant fire marshal for the Pennsylvania State Police.

He declined to name the "accelerant," but said a laboratory analysis was being made to determine just what it was. Sgt. Wood said he could smell the substance in the bedroom of the Boden home where the woman's body was found.

In asking for the discharge of the Boden brothers, their attorneys, Frederick F. Coffroth and Robert M. Keim claimed the commonwealth had not produced sufficient evidence on which to base the murder and arson charges.

Cumberland Elks Conduct Annual Memorial Service

Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va., said last night at the annual memorial service of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, that it is up to the living members to carry on the work of their deceased brothers.

Dr. Church, who is a member of Elks Lodge 1916 in Keyser, said the members who died during the past year played their part well in life and will be remembered through those they influenced, their sons and daughters, their friendships, and by all true Elks.

The principles of Elksdom should be in the minds of all Elks so the unfinished task of their deceased brothers may be carried on in all parts of the world, Dr. Church said.

Harry I. Stegmaier, past exalted ruler of the local lodge, delivered the eulogy in memory of the 20 members of the lodge who died during the past year.

He stated that those who died during 1957 added lustre to the order during their lives and benefited through the bonds of fellowship created by the Elks.

Mr. Stegmaier added that everyone associated with them should be thankful that they were with them for such a long time.

The program also included the opening address by Harry E. Thomas, exalted ruler, and the invocation by James Flanagan. The Centre Street Sanctuary Choir under the direction of Charles I. Sager sang several selections and an organ prelude to the program was presented by Peter Lukas.

Wife Arrested In Clubbing Of Husband

Morton Cook Found Locked In Cellar

A 57-year-old man was in "fair" condition last night in Memorial Hospital with injuries reportedly inflicted by his wife sometime over the weekend.

Authorities said Morton H. Cook, employed as an elevator operator at the hospital, was found locked in the cellar of the family home just off Cash Valley Road yesterday. He was badly beaten about the head.

They said his wife, Mrs. Tina Cook, is expected to be taken to the state's attorney's office this morning for questioning. Police secured an assault-with-intent-to-kill warrant against her.

Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police, said Mrs. Cook had obtained an assault and battery warrant against her husband from Trial Magistrate William Meagher in Cresaptown.

Upon investigation, State Police found Mr. Cook locked in the cellar of the home. The incident was reported to have occurred on Saturday night. Police said Mrs. Cook had struck her husband with a club.

It was reported Mr. Cook sustained a possible fractured skull. Hospital attaches, who said X-rays were taken, reported that he suffered numerous abrasions of his face and neck, a fractured right thumb and fracture of his left ring finger.

He was admitted to the hospital about 3:30 p.m. yesterday. Mrs. Cook was taken to Allegany County Jail, but later was released after posting $1,000 bond.

Police said they understand the couple has a married daughter who resides in Ohio and that the quarrel resulted over a planned trip to that state to see her.

County Building For November Hits $221,435

November was this year's fourth best month in the value of construction authorized by Allegany County assessing department building permits, with $221,435 in 27 permits.

Only January, June and April had higher figures for total estimated cost of construction. January's was a high $2,054,950, essentially because of a $2,000,000 shopping center permit along Winchester Road on which no construction has been undertaken.

The 11-month totals for 1957 include 374 permits and $4,040,930 estimated construction. Last year the 11-month figures were 336 permits and $1,498,982.80.

Two permits last month were responsible for almost two-thirds of the estimated cost of the November construction. They were an $80,000 textile manufacturing factory for the Cumberland Undergarment Company in Election District 12 just outside Frostburg and a $60,000 restaurant being constructed for a Howard Johnson along U. S. Route 40 near its intersection with Braddock Road in Election District 29.

Other November building permits included eight for new dwellings, three for additions to dwellings, two garages and one each of the following:

Install septic tank and complete bathroom, chicken house, enclose porch and construct bath, store and apartment, addition to cottage, residence and display room, stable, install bathroom, double garage and small apartment, to complete dwelling, dwelling, breezeway and garage and an addition to a gasoline service station.

District 29 in LaVale, where zoning has been approved but is not yet in effect, again is the building permit leader in November with nine. District 12, Frostburg suburban, was next with three permits and Districts 4, South Cumberland suburban; 5, North End suburban; 6, Bowling Green; 7, Cresaptown; 13, Mt. Savage; 17, Vale Summit; 21, East Side suburban; 28, Frostburg suburban; 30, Zihlman, and 31, McCoolie.

Marriage Licenses Up In November

The month which ended Saturday was slightly ahead of November 1956 in the issuance of marriage licenses by the office of Joseph E. Boder, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, with 219, three more than last year.

November's total brought the 11-month figure here this year to 2,521, just four fewer than in the same period of last year. A big October drop, attributed partially to Asian flu, was chiefly responsible for this year's decline.

The October total of 185 was 62 less than for the same month of 1956.

11 W. Va. Phone Locals Ratify New Contract

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 1 — Eleven telephone workers' local union ratified last night a new one-year contract with Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of West Virginia.

Oscar L. Davis of Charleston, state director of the Communications Workers of America, said the membership of the locals voted about 3-1 in favor of the agreement after rejecting it in similar balloting a week ago.

The new contract, retroactive to Nov. 10, will provide basic wage increases of $2 to $5 a week for 4,700 non-supervisory employees of C & P, which serves virtually all of the state except Bluefield, Welch and Princeton vicinities.

County Demos Back Tawes And Sybert

More than 300 Allegany County Democrats, representing practically all elements of the party, have endorsed J. Millard Tawes for governor and C. Ferdinand Sybert for attorney general.

The list of endorsers, jointly announced by respective leaders, includes the six members of the Democratic State Central Committee and a former chairman of the committee, the Democratic member of the Board of Supervisors of Elections, various present and former Democratic office holders, the president and all other officers of the Young Democrats of Allegany County and three former presidents of the Young Democrats, the president and all other officers of the United Democratic Women's Club of the county and four former presidents, the president and other officers of the Georges Creek Democratic Club, a large number of Democratic labor leaders, and other active Democrats from all sections of the county.

The endorsement, after pointing out that Mr. Tawes and Mr. Sybert were elected to and now occupy the two highest state-wide offices held by the Democrats in Maryland, said:

"We are convinced that the members of the Democratic party in Maryland are tired of the fratricidal strife which has caused its defeat in recent years, and believing that on their records Comptroller Tawes and Attorney General Sybert are the logical candidates for the positions to which they aspire, we pledge them our support and respectfully urge the other Democrats of the county to also support them."

Seasoned political observers said the endorsement is one of the strongest ever given in the county and indicated almost unanimous support for Tawes and Sybert.

The original endorsement, with over 300 signatures, is being sent to Mr. Tawes.
